

The Beuttinger Jury Disagrees and Judge Discharges Them

Out Twenty-two Hours On Case That
Has Attracted Much Attention Because of Factor Involved

HER LIFE ONE OF UNSPEAKABLE CRUELTY

Newark, Oct. 28.—(By United Press)—After 22 hours of deliberation the jury that sat in judgment in the case of Mrs. Henry Beuttinger charged with the murder of her husband, Christopher Beuttinger, stood before the judge's bench and reported that they failed to reach a verdict and were discharged. It was learned later that several of the jurors were for a verdict of something less than murder. The little woman when brought into the court room to hear the verdict sobbed hysterically and seemed to sense that the jurors had not reached a verdict which resulted in their discharge. Mrs. Beuttinger who is a dark 28 year old Caldwell, N. J., matron shot and killed her husband in her bedroom after he had bursted open the door and made unwelcome advances to her an threatened to kill her. The story of her married life was one of unspeakable cruelty. When the jury retired at 3:05 yesterday afternoon Mrs. Beuttinger felt confident of a verdict of acquittal. Throughout the trial the foremost factor was the question had she the right of her own body and if so she had the right to kill if necessary to protect it. Mrs. Beuttinger is the mother of five children.

THREATENING LETTER SENDER ESCAPES INSANE HOSPITAL

Police Dragging Country For Man Who Persisted in Annoying the President

Know that Diamond is insane but Police do not Discount his Shrewdness And Fear he will Again Attack Wilson.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 28.—(By United Press)—The drag net of the United States secret service was thrown out again today for Maurice Diamond aged 62 of Bay City, Mich., who was in the insane hospital at Marshalltown after he had sent threatening letters to President Wilson. Diamond with four others inmates of the hospital, escaped late last night or early this morning by breaking through a door and then sawing their way through iron bars. Though federal officers who arrested Diamond here after he had lived in Cleveland for months under the alias of Wilson believe him mentally unsound they do not discount his shrewdness. He sent a number of threatening letters to the President from time to time while he was being sought and several attempts to see the chief executive personally, after he had failed to have a claim settled in court. The four others who escaped with Diamond are all residents of Pittsburgh.

RUSSIANS LOSE IN POLAND

London, Oct. 28.—(By United Press)—Russian forces have lost greatly in the fighting in Poland and Galicia according to Rome dispatches today. In Rumania the Teutonic allies continued their drive on the combined armies, but the drive has lost much of its momentum. On the northwestern frontier the Rumanians have taken the offensive. The French had taken a quarry southeast of Fort Douaunt.

Mrs. G. V. Shaw and Mrs. James Blyler spent the day at the old Shaw Homestead at Goshen.

Presbyterian Young Folks Social Was a Delightful Occasion

Hundreds Gathered for Masquerade Given By Officials
of Church and Their Wives.

One of the finest and most enjoyable socials ever given by a Christian organization here was given Thursday night by the wives and officers of the Presbyterian church and Sunday school in the dining room of the church to all the young people of the church. The affair was a Phantom social which was attended by several hundred. The majority were dressed in sheet and pillow cases but there were also other fitting costumes. Two persons dressed to represent black cats were the big attraction of the evening and furnished lots of fun by their pranks. When all the masqueraders had gathered a grand march was in procession through the Sunday school rooms and out around the pavement. The room was attractively decorated with big yellow pumpkins, shocks of corn and wheat, black cats and witches. Games of all kinds were heartily enjoyed by all. Popcorn, peanuts, ice cream cones, apples and doughnuts were the excellent refreshments which all thought so good. Much praise is due to the wives and officers who made the affair such a splendid success.

There Mrs. Beuttinger is surrounded by her five children, the eldest of whom is only nine.

W. C. T. U. Meeting Y. M. C. A. Last Night

Ladies Hear Report of Delegates to
State Convention
A most interesting meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance union was held in the Y. M. C. A. last night led by the President, Mrs. E. J. Bouton, who had lately returned from the state convention at Wilkesbarre. It was a wonderful convention and the report given by Mrs. Bouton was excellent, and was listened to with close attention by the good audience present.

Mrs. Bouton gave the Bible reading as given by Madame Barakat, the remarkable Syrian woman who is a most interesting exponent of the people who at the present time are claiming the attention of the world, being herself a living example of an escaped Armenian from the rage of an earlier Turkish massacre; with which we are periodically familiar and which all should hear from her lips. A standing vote of thanks was given Mrs. Bouton for her able report. There was a short discussion on gold medal work. After arranging for a teacher's reception, the meeting adjourned.

The house was prettily decorated for the occasion and a very pleasant evening was spent playing games, dancing and story-telling.

FIRST SNOW FLIES

The first snow squall of the season hit Clearfield at 12:45 yesterday. This brief touch of winter following so closely the fall exodus of wild geese from the frozen north to the rice fields of the southland would seem to bear out the old weather sign of "when the wild geese go, the snow will soon blow." Several flocks of wild geese were noticed flying over Clearfield since Sunday.

Passy On the Water Wagon For Keeps

Innocent Little Possum Works Transformation in Noted Chef
Frank Passmore, night chef at Jordan's restaurant, made several solemn inward promises to go on the water wagon, and stay there forever, during an experience he was subjected to Thursday night, and it all came about in this way.

Wade Stewart, of the Stewart Drug store, caught a possum out at Crystal Springs camp Sunday and had him on display in the front window. During Thursday night the possum got out of his cage and went on an exploring tour. He crawled up the kitchen wall at Jordan's and from a vantage point on the window ledge took occasional peeps down into the kitchen where Passmore was busy at work. Finally the cook thought he saw something moving on the window sill, but when he looked closer there was nothing there. Again the grey muzzle protruded into the room, to be as quickly withdrawn. All the time Passy kept his eyes glued on the spot. So shifty were the movements of the little animal that the cook was not willing to gamble as to whether there was anything there or not. About this time he was getting pretty woozy and was really expecting to see roosters wearing straw hats, pink turkey gobblers and other impossible birds and animals fluttering on the wall, but before going up he thought he would get the judgment of some one else on the thing. He called in one of the clerks and had him watch the window but the possum did not appear while he was looking. No sooner had the waiter left than the little animal appeared again and started down the wall into the kitchen. With a war whoop that was heard a block, Passy started for the front door with the scared possum following and was only stopped from headlong flight by Jake Miller, who on seeing the strange visitor, asked for help to round up the possum.

The marauder was captured and returned to his cage but that window has quite an attraction for Passy yet.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MISS EARLY SPACKMAN

A miscellaneous shower in the nature of a surprise was tendered Mrs. Earl Spackman at her home on Clearfield street last evening. About fifty of her friends were present and a very pleasant evening was the result. An appetizing lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Spackman will move to Williamsport in the very near future.

PLEASANT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Fifteen of the young friends of Miss Gladys Shaw gathered at her home on West Fifth Avenue Thursday evening and helped that little lady properly celebrate her seventh birthday. Music and hallowe'en games were indulged in and all present had a most glorious time, and left for home at a reasonable hour, glad that they had been there and wishing their little hostess many, many happy returns of the day.

FIGHT ON COURT HOUSE CORNER GOES LIMIT

Curwensville Puglist Comes to
Town and After Ten Minute
Session Goes to Hospital

BOTH POLICE BUSY ON CALLS

A Curwensville citizen and a local man settled an argument on the court house corner last evening in the good old fashioned knock down and drag out style edifying quite a crowd of interested spectators.

The police force were engaged in rounding up youthful hallowe'en rioters in different sections of the town and as a result the fracas was allowed to go to a finish.

By the time the visitor had received what he considered was all that was coming to him, his facial geography had been considerably changed and very much moved about. Where one eye was accustomed to have been was a large bald knob with indigo trimmings while the entry into his inner regions had been spoiled of several of its ivory sentinels the aforesaid sentinels having been salvaged this morning by White Wings Passmore, as he gathered his daily consignment for the borough dump.

Both contestants were big strong men and it was "some scrap" according to those present.

* There is no use "making any bones about it" Clearfielders * * must do their share towards mitigating the suffering of the Armenian and Syrian people. Residents of every other town in the United States are already hard at work with relief committees and Clearfield must keep up her end of the string. She will do it too, but we run this little story simply to remind you that it is a condition that must be met. If you are going to church tomorrow, go prepared to give your mite. If you don't go to church, don't pass by the little boxes when you see them in the business houses and public places of town.

High School Students Hold Masquerade

Games, Dancing, Singing and Readings Enliven Evening

Three hundred boys and girls and teachers of the Clearfield High School held a fine masquerade last evening in the High School building. The halls were attractively decorated with Japanese lanterns and crepe paper.

Each one was dressed in fancy costume. Games, dancing, fish pond and fortune teller booth took up the time of all and were heartily enjoyed.

The following literary program was given:

Beryl Reed, president of the Senior class gave a very fitting address of welcome.

Principal Kirk delighted all with a very witty reading.

Mr. Van Osten sang a beautiful solo.

Miss Lulu McDevitt accompanied by Miss Olive Gulich rendered an excellent violin solo.

Miss Ethel Underwood gave a pleasing reading.

The boy's quartette including Malcolm Cox, Albert Kennard, Harold Knight and David Ferguson rendered some splendid music.

OLDER BOYS GIV

The borough authorities should take more strenuous steps to break up the practice of the young hoodlums and irresponsible kids who have been indulging in what they style hallowe'en pranks for more than a week past, much to the annoyance of householders about town.

Last night the police were called to Cherry street about 8:30 to round up a gang of boys who were tearing off screen doors, throwing bricks and old cabbage heads on porches and hammering the porches with boards and clubs, about the same time complaint was received from Pine street to the effect that another crowd of youngsters had broken windows and were cutting up high jinks generally in that section.

This kind of thing has been going on for more than a week and on present police force is entirely too small to cope with the situation in the different and remote sections of town and special policemen should be employed from now until after hallowe'en to round up these young marauders and make them behave themselves.

While most of the devilment is done by little lads, a lot of bigger and older boys are taking advantage of the season and the harmless activities of the little fellows to destroy property and cause untold annoyance to housewives all over town.

ONE ACHIEVEMENT OF SYSTEM

There are not very many of us who would provide an evening of genuine pleasure for our friends if we were without help and had a baby but a few months old. Nevertheless that is exactly what my chum, Ethel, did not very long ago.

Resting for a few days after I had finished some work in "The Girl Philippi," I visited Ethel, and that is how I gained another insight into her admirable character.

Two days before the gathering Ethel was drawing a diagram of the festival board and figuring out the different places for the guests. Her place cards had been painted by her own nimble fingers the day before. Simple, chaste things they were, with a pine sprig or some similar decoration on each.

The entertainment of the evening was to comprise whist and dancing and a lunch, and she had all the tables and tables numbered before the day, and the dance records of her victrola chosen and placed aside. The buttonhole bouquets and flowers for the girls were picked fresh in the morning and taken from their water to be separated after she had donned the white chiffon dress she wears so attractively. Her boy husband's evening's clothes were brushed and placed upon the bed—ready for him even to the necktie and collar button. Ethel absolutely detests confusion, and will do anything within her power to avoid it.

The refreshments were prepared while the baby slept in the morning, and as she completed a preparation she would cross that task off a pad on which she had written "Things to Do" Baby was whisked off to Slumberland at the usual time, since Ethel knew that she would be too excited to sleep quietly if she remained awake to see the different guests. After all this, naturally, the evening was one of genuine pleasure for everybody present. Ethel's evenings always are!

Preparations amount to a great deal in our lives, friends, no matter how small and unimportant the thing may seem. Ethel's plan of writing down everything she has to do is an excellent one, and I have begun to practise it in my own work. Things are never as difficult, done systematically and in the end everything is much smoother than it would otherwise be.

An Unusually Broad Showing of New Styles in the Suit Section.

We've endeavored to induce you, for the past month, the purchase your fall suit just as early as possible. Aside from the fact that you secure so much extra service by purchasing early, there is the added advantage of knowing that you've been able to get what you wanted. The uncertain conditions in the manufacturing field in New York which has been brought about by the scarcity of materials and the higher cost of labor, brings to you a corresponding uncertainty as to just whether it will be possible to continue getting the kind of garments you have been accustomed to securing at this store. The styles shown here are the ones which have been determined upon as being absolutely correct. You can buy with safety and with satisfaction. Prices $17.75 to $65.00

The Beuttinger Jury Disagrees and Judge Discharges Them

Out Twenty-two Hours On Case That
Has Attracted Much Attention Because of Factor Involved

HER LIFE ONE OF UNSPEAKABLE CRUELTY

Newark, Oct. 28.—(By United Press)—After 22 hours of deliberation the jury that sat in judgment in the case of Mrs. Henry Beuttinger charged with the murder of her husband, Christopher Beuttinger, stood before the judge's bench and reported that they failed to reach a verdict and were discharged. It was learned later that several of the jurors were for a verdict of something less than murder. The little woman when brought into the court room to hear the verdict sobbed hysterically and seemed to sense that the jurors had not reached a verdict which resulted in their discharge. Mrs. Beuttinger who is a dark 28 year old Caldwell, N. J., matron shot and killed her husband in her bedroom after he had bursted open the door and made unwelcome advances to her an threatened to kill her. The story of her married life was one of unspeakable cruelty. When the jury retired at 3:05 yesterday afternoon Mrs. Beuttinger felt confident of a verdict of acquittal. Throughout the trial the foremost factor was the question had she the right of her own body and if so she had the right to kill if necessary to protect it. Mrs. Beuttinger is the mother of five children.

Police Dragging Country For
Man Who Persisted in Annoying the President

Know that Diamond is insane but Police do not discount his shrewdness And Fear he will Again Attack Wilson.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 28.—(By United Press)—The drag net of the United States secret service was thrown out again today for Maurice Diamond aged 62 of Bay City, Mich., who was in the insane hospital at Marshalltown after he had sent threatening letters to President Wilson. Diamond with four others inmates of the hospital, escaped late last night or early this morning by breaking through a door and then sawing their way through iron bars. Though federal officers who arrested Diamond here after he had lived in Cleveland for months under the alias of Wilson believe him mentally unsound they do not discount his shrewdness. He sent a number of threatening letters to the President from time to time while he was being sought and several attempts to see the chief executive personally, after he had failed to have a claim settled in court. The four others who escaped with Diamond are all residents of Pittsburgh.

Presbyterian Young Folks Social Was a Delightful Occasion

of Church and Their Wives.

One of the finest and most enjoyable socials ever given by a Christian organization here was given Thursday night by the wives and officers of the Presbyterian church and Sunday school in the dining room of the church to all the young people of the church. The affair was a Phantom social which was attended by several hundred. The majority were dressed in sheet and pillow cases but there were also other fitting costumes. Two persons dressed to represent black cats were the big attraction of the evening and furnished lots of fun by their pranks. When all the masqueraders had gathered a grand march was in procession through the Sunday school rooms and out around the pavement. The room was attractively decorated with big yellow pumpkins, shocks of corn and wheat, black cats and witches. Games of all kinds were heartily enjoyed by all. Popcorn, peanuts, ice cream cones, apples and doughnuts were the excellent refreshments which all thought so good. Much praise is due to the wives and officers who made the affair such a splendid success.

Women Jailors Lead to Court Woman Accused of Murdering Her Husband

There Mrs. Beuttinger is surrounded by her five children, the eldest of whom is only nine.

Ladies Hear Report of Delegates to
State Convention

A most interesting meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance union was held in the Y. M. C. A. last night led by the President, Mrs. E. J. Bouton, who had lately returned from the state convention at Wilkesbarre. It was a wonderful convention and the report given by Mrs. Bouton was excellent, and was listened to with close attention by the good audience present.

Mrs. Bouton gave the Bible reading as given by Madame Barakat, the remarkable Syrian woman who is a most interesting exponent of the people who at the present time are claiming the attention of the world, being herself a living example of an escaped Armenian from the rage of an earlier Turkish massacre; with which we are periodically familiar and which all should hear from her lips.

A standing vote of thanks was given Mrs. Bouton for her able report. There was a short discussion on gold medal work. After arranging for a teacher's reception, the meeting adjourned.

MISS ERICSON ENTERTAINS

Miss Lillian Ericson entertained about twenty of her friends at a Masquerade party last night, at her home on West Third avenue. Out of town guests were Miss Helen Kresge, Miss Esther Hanks of DuBois and Miss Mary Langton of Curwensville.

The house was prettily decorated for the occasion and a very pleasant evening was spent playing games, dancing and story-telling.

FIRST SNOW FLIES

The first snow squall of the season hit Clearfield at 12:45 yesterday. This brief touch of winter following so closely the fall exodus of wild geese from the frozen north to the rice fields of the southland would seem to bear out the old weather sign of "when the wild geese go, the snow will soon blow." Several flocks of wild geese were noticed flying over Clearfield since Sunday.

Passy On the Water Wagon For Keeps

Innocent Little Possum Works Transformation in Noted Chef

Frank Passmore, night chef at Jordan's restaurant, made several solemn inward promises to go on the water wagon, and stay there forever, during an experience he was subjected to Thursday night, and it all came about in this way.

Wade Stewart, of the Stewart Drug store, caught a possum out at Crystal Springs camp Sunday and had him on display in the front window. During Thursday night the possum got out of his cage and went on an exploring tour. He crawled up the kitchen wall at Jordan's and from a vantage point on the window ledge took occasional peeps down into the kitchen where Passmore was busy at work. Finally the cook thought he saw something moving on the window sill, but when he looked closer there was nothing there. Again the grey muzzle protruded into the room, to be as quickly withdrawn. All the time Passy kept his eyes glued on the spot. So shifty were the movements of the little animal that the cook was not willing to gamble as to whether there was anything there or not. About this time he was getting pretty woozy and was really expecting to see roosters wearing straw hats, pink turkey gobblers and other impossible birds and animals fluttering on the wall, but before going up he thought he would get the judgment of some one else on the thing. He called in one of the clerks and had him watch the window but the possum did not appear while he was looking. No sooner had the waiter left than the little animal appeared again and started down the wall into the kitchen. With a war whoop that was heard a block, Passy started for the front door with the scared possum following and was only stopped from headlong flight by Jake Miller, who on seeing the strange visitor, asked for help to round up the possum.

The marauder was captured and returned to his cage but that window has quite an attraction for Passy yet.

A miscellaneous shower in the nature of a surprise was tendered Mrs. Earl Spackman at her home on Clearfield street last evening. About fifty of her friends were present and a very pleasant evening was the result. An appetizing lunch was served. Mr. and Mrs. Spackman will move to Williamsport in the very near future.

FIGHT ON COURT HOUSE CORNER GOES LIMIT

Curwensville Puglist Comes to
Town and After Ten Minute
Session Goes to Hospital

BOTH POLICE BUSY ON CALLS

A Curwensville citizen and a local man settled an argument on the court house corner last evening in the good old fashioned knock down and drag out style edifying quite a crowd of interested spectators.

The police force were engaged in rounding up youthful hallowe'en rioters in different sections of the town and as a result the fracas was allowed to go to a finish.

By the time the visitor had received what he considered was all that was coming to him, his facial geography had been considerably changed and very much moved about. Where one eye was accustomed to have been was a large bald knob with indigo trimmings while the entry into his inner regions had been spoiled of several of its ivory sentinels the aforesaid sentinels having been salvaged this morning by White Wings Passmore, as he gathered his daily consignment for the borough dump.

Both contestants were big strong men and it was "some scrap" according to those present.

High School Students Hold Masquerade

Games, Dancing, Singing and Readings Enliven Evening

Three hundred boys and girls and teachers of the Clearfield High School held a fine masquerade last evening in the High School building. The halls were attractively decorated with Japanese lanterns and crepe paper.

Each one was dressed in fancy costume. Games, dancing, fish pond and fortune teller booth took up the time of all and were heartily enjoyed.

The following literary program was given:

Beryl Reed, president of the Senior class gave a very fitting address of welcome.

Principal Kirk delighted all with a very witty reading.

Mr. Van Osten sang a beautiful solo.

Miss Lulu McDevitt accompanied by Miss Olive Gulich rendered an excellent violin solo.

Miss Ethel Underwood gave a pleasing reading.

The boy's quartette including Malcolm Cox, Albert Kennard, Harold Knight and David Ferguson rendered some splendid music.

OLDER BOYS GIV

The borough authorities show take more strenuous steps to break up the practice of the young hood lums and irresponsible kids who have been indulging in what they style hallowe'en pranks for more than a week past, much to the annoyance of householders about town.

Last night the police were called to Cherry street about 8:30 to round up a gang of boys who were tearing off screen doors, throwing bricks and old cabbage heads on porches and hammering the porches with boards and clubs, about the same time complaint was received from Pine street to the effect that another crowd of youngsters had broken windows and were cutting up high jinks generally in that section.

This kind of thing has been going on for more than a week and on present police force is entirely too small to cope with the situation in the different and remote sections of town and special policemen should be employed from now until after hallowe'en to round up these young marauders and make them behave themselves.

While most of the devilment is done by little lads, a lot of bigger and older boys are taking advantage of the season and the harmless activities of the little fellows to destroy property and cause untold annoyance to housewives all over town.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast

Uric Acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog, you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from backache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water, also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a table-spoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

"FAIR AND WARMER"

"Fair and Warmer" the Avery Hopwood farce which was talked of in New York till it was famous all over the country, will be presented by Selwyn & Company at the Opera House on Friday evening with an excellent cast of farceurs.

This gale of merriment which taxed the vocabulary of every New York reviewer and every correspondent of the out-of-town press and which was hailed as the fount of the season's greatest gaiety, made such a prompt success at the Eltinge Theatre, in New York last season, that before the end of its first three months, it was in demand from North, East, South and West, for many months before Selwyn & Company were able to place it on tour. Its reputation is that it has had few equals and no superiors, in all the history of the American theatre. Selwyn & Company send it here with an admirable cast. Seats on sale, Wednesday at 9 a. m.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson V.—Fourth Quarter, For Oct. 29, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xxvii, 13-26. Memory Verse, 13-21—Golden Text, Paul's words to the Centurion, Prepared by Rev. C. H. Edwards.

Now Paul is off to Rome and has seen himself from his enemies in the hands of the Romans. He is a prisoner, but he is a prisoner of the sea as well as of the land. Paul has more than enough to do to see that he does not lose his life. There are so many "what-ifs" of purpose to cheer us along the way which it is hard to see. I hope he enjoyed the sea voyage, for to me they are so peaceful, and even storms are magnificently grand if one can keep a quiet mind and heart. He had at least one good companion with whom he could have good fellowship on the voyage, Aristarchus of Thessalonica, who was afterward a fellow prisoner with him at Rome (verse 2 and Col. iv, 10).

At Rhoda, where the ship called, Paul was given liberty to go to his friends and refresh himself (verse 2), and this must have been a good handout and much appreciated. They chartered ships at Myra, Lycia, some distance south-east of Ephesus, where they found a ship from Alexandria bound for Italy. They reached Crete safely, but, not giving heed to Paul's advice to winter there and thinking that they had a favorable wind, they set sail. I shall never forget one of the most enjoyable sea trips of my life from Port Said, in Egypt, to Brindisi, in Italy, in 1897. After some months of tropical heat in China and India and the sail up the Red sea, which the captain thought must have been called Red because it was red hot, I thought I never had anything quite so enjoyable as that sail. My diary for Sept. 15, 1897, says, "Sighted Crete about noon and kept along the southern coast till night." I was then writing notes on the Sunday school lessons just as I am today and have been doing in the summer months ever since 1897. How great have been my privileges! To him be all the glory. Pardon this digression and give Paul and Crete the credit of it. The tempestuous wind and the beating of the waves (verse 14, 18, 24) did not come my way on the Mediterranean, but I have known something of it on other seas and been kept in bed.

This was certainly a great storm that this ship fell into, for neither sun nor stars were seen for many days, and all hope of surviving the storm was given up (verse 20). We think of the works of the Lord and His wonders in the deep and of people at their wits' end and how He can make the storm a calm or in some other way deliver His, with 2,000. After many days and nights of this great storm Paul had a vision from heaven, an angel of God, called the Lord Himself, as in Acts 27, or one of His faithful messengers, as in Acts 27:23, with a word of good cheer for him and for all on board. Oh, these wonderful angels who come in strength, who delight to do this thing, who can run and return like lightning (Eph. ii, 20, 21; Psalms 110). They have no fear and seem to have all power. Just think of this one leading this ship in the midst of this great storm and the one man on board of all the 270 whom he saw safely landed (verse 37).

It is all comfort to know that such things as these are over millions of men and women. The next day a fair wind blew and the angel Paul was seen on all on board. How many of us are in such a state that Paul was able to assure them that there was to be no loss of life, nor a hurt of their souls harmed, and to encourage them to eat something, for they had eaten little or nothing for fourteen days (verses 23, 33-36). He took bread and gave thanks to God in the presence of them all and began to eat. Then they all did eat and were of good cheer. Note Paul's message concerning the angel visitor, "The angel of God, whose I am and whom I serve" (verse 23), and may the last seven words be ours always from the heart. He certainly believed for himself what he wrote to the Corinthians, "Ye are not your own, for ye are bought with a price" (1 Cor. vi, 19, 20). If ever a man lived it out he did; and, knowing what it meant to serve the Lord with all humbly of mind, he could urge others to serve the Living God. Then his words of strength and cheer to all these people were so grand, with every blessing, humbly speaking, of good cheer with the ship, and no reason for thinking otherwise but the message of the angel, he said so boldly, "Wherefore, gird ye, of good cheer, for I believe God that it shall be even as it was told me" (verse 24). And so it came to pass, and they escaped all safe to land (verse 41). We think of Abraham, who considered not himself nor Sarah, but was fully persuaded that what God had promised He was able to perform (Rom. iv, 19, 21). For twenty-one years the motto of my little monthly, Kingdom Tidings, has been "Abraham believed God."

"I believe God," and though the contrast between these two men of God and the work represented by this little monthly is very great, yet the principle is the same, and the words have been a great help to me.

ONE ACHIEVEMENT OF SYSTEM

There are not very many of us who would provide an evening of genuine pleasure for our friends if we were without help and had a baby but a few months old. Nevertheless that is exactly what my chum, Ethel, did not very long ago.

Resting for a few days after I had finished some work in "The Girl Philippi," I visited Ethel, and that is how I gained another insight into her admirable character.

Two days before the gathering Ethel was drawing a diagram of the festival board and figuring out the different places for the guests. Her place cards had been painted by her own nimble fingers the day before. Simple, chaste things they were, with a pine sprig or some similar decoration on each.

The entertainment of the evening was to comprise whist and dancing and a lunch, and she had all the tables and tables numbered before the day, and the dance records of her victrola chosen and placed aside. The buttonhole bouquets and flowers for the girls were picked fresh in the morning and taken from their water to be separated after she had donned the white chiffon dress she wears so attractively. Her boy husband's evening's clothes were brushed and placed upon the bed—ready for him even to the necktie and collar button. Ethel absolutely detests confusion, and will do anything within her power to avoid it.

The refreshments were prepared while the baby slept in the morning, and as she completed a preparation she would cross that task off a pad on which she had written "Things to Do." Baby was whisked off to Slumberland at the usual time, since Ethel knew that she would be too excited to sleep quietly if she remained awake to see the different guests. After all this, naturally, the evening was one of genuine pleasure for everybody present. Ethel's evenings always are!

Preparations amount to a great deal in our lives, friends, no matter how small and unimportant the thing may seem. Ethel's plan of writing down everything she has to do is an excellent one, and I have begun to practise it in my own work. Things are never as difficult, done systematically and in the end everything is much smoother than it would otherwise be.

Some addresses were made, Father Fox responding in words which proved his appreciation and deep feeling he held toward all those present. Attend Leonardson's Month-End Sale To-Night

Every department offers unusual values for the last few days of this month.

An Unusually Broad Showing of New Styles in the Suit Section.

We've endeavored to induce you, for the past month, the purchase your fall suit just as early as possible. Aside from the fact that you secure so much extra service by purchasing early, there is the added advantage of knowing that you've been able to get what you wanted. The uncertain conditions in the manufacturing field in New York which has been brought about by the scarcity of materials and the higher cost of labor, brings to you a corresponding uncertainty as to just whether it will be possible to continue getting the kind of garments you have been accustomed to securing at this store. The styles shown here are the ones which have been determined upon as being absolutely correct. You can buy with safety and with satisfaction. Prices $17.75 to $65.00

Many New and Attractive Designs in Waists Have Just Arrived by Express

And, though the very newest fashion ideas are shown, the waists are surprisingly reasonable in cost—prices range from $1.95 to $10.00. There are waists of Georgette crepe and crepe de chine for as little as $1.95—waists of striped and plain silks and then the finer waists are of combinations of satin and Georgette crepe in the smartest designs we've seen this season.

Of Interest to Mothers and Girls— Heavy Taffeta Hair Ribbon 20c yd.

The width is from 5 to 6 inches. Strong, firm quality and may be had in floral effects in a large range of various colors.

P.S. Quite a number of our customers will buy these ribbons for making up fancy articles for gifts.
